In the world of home renovations, every project is a canvas waiting to be transformed into a masterpiece. For Refreshed and Refurbished, a recent project in Souris exemplifies not just a renovation but a testament to their commitment to excellence, creativity, and client satisfaction.

The scope of the project was meticulously planned – a complete overhaul of the main floor, encompassing everything from painting ceilings, walls, trim, and interior doors to creating a striking accent wall for the TV area. What made this project particularly special was the collaboration between Kailan from Refreshed and Refurbished and the client, whose trust in their expertise was unwavering.

Having previously worked with the client on painting their cabinets, Kailan and her team were invited back to spearhead the interior painting and design aspects of the main floor renovation. From the outset, they were deeply involved in the creative process, offering guidance on colour selection and design ideas to ensure a cohesive and visually stunning result.

The colour palette chosen for the project reflected a blend of sophistication and warmth, perfectly complementing the new flooring and existing fireplace. Interior walls and trim were painted in Wheat Bread by Behr, evoking a sense of timeless elegance. The interior doors were adorned with Behr's Satin Black, adding a touch of contrast and modernity to the space. However, the pièce de résistance was the TV accent wall, which was elegantly crafted using Satin Black by Behr once again, serving as a focal point that effortlessly ties the room together.

While Refreshed and Refurbished focused on the painting and design aspects, the project as a whole encompassed a myriad of improvements, including new flooring, the removal of textured ceilings, the addition of pot lights, enhancements to the woodwork on the beam, and the acquisition of new furniture. It was a comprehensive transformation that revitalized the entire space, breathing new life into every corner.

What truly sets Refreshed and Refurbished apart is their dedication to understanding their clients' vision and translating it into reality. Throughout the project, the client's confidence in their recommendations allowed them to unleash their creativity and expertise, resulting in a space that surpassed expectations.
